Dear Seniors,

The St. Lucie County Education Foundation scholarship publication is designed to provide our students and their family with information on local, state and national scholarships.

Scholarship opportunities are diverse. Some offerings come from the community; others are available through state and national resources. Our local clubs and civic organizations donate thousands of dollars in scholarship money each year because they believe in you. Many thanks to them for their continued support. I would also like to thank the scholarship committee for their help in compiling this guide.

Please note that the Education Foundation is a direct support organization of St. Lucie Public Schools. Scholarship donations to the Education Foundation restrict the use of funds to benefit public school students only. We are aware that some of our scholarship donors may still offer scholarships to students from other schools. Please review the various scholarships in our scholarship guide and contact the donor directly to determine eligibility for non-public school students.

Finally, while deadline dates are as accurate as possible, please check with the scholarship donor for definite dates and further recommendations.

Sincerely,

Thom Jones

President

FT. PIERCE JAZZ AND BLUES SOCIETY

SCHOLARSHIP 2026

High school seniors in Martin, Okeechobee, St. Lucie, Indian River, Glades and Highland Counties are eligible. Requirements include a resume and an audition.

Audition dates are June 8 and 9 at Indian River Charter High School. Awards and $1,000 checks will be presented June 12 to those who pass the audition. These dates coincide with the Jazz Society Jazz Camp, June 8-12.

The resume (essay, vitae sheet, bio) should be typed, neat, grammatically correct and one page. The content should contain more prose than lists. Basically, what did you do in high school and what will you do now?

The audition is you and a professional rhythm section performing two tunes approved beforehand. Bring four copies of the lead sheets and your essay to the audition. You are the leader so you decide key, tempo, style and form. Some improvisation will be expected. Four Jazz Society members will adjudicate.

Attending Jazz Society concerts and performing at Jazz Jams is your best way to prepare for the audition. Jazzsociety.org has dates, times and locations. Entrance for you is free, you will always be welcomed and suggestions from the musicians will be encouraging and helpful. This is real practice for your audition.

I will answer emails or texts to clarify any part of the process.

RESOURCE INFORMATION

FINANCIAL AID

There are basically three kinds of financial aid, and most students get a “package” or a mix of two or three including grants, loans, and work. Grants are called “gift aid” since they don’t have to be repaid. Loans and work are called “self-help” aid. You don’t have to put your package together by yourself. The financial aid administrator at the college where you are applying will help you build a package. Exhaust all other possibilities before committing to a loan.

Here are some of the pieces it might include:

1. Pell Grants – straight from Uncle Sam to you. The Federal Government sponsors the Pell Grant Program, and it’s an important source of aid for students. How much you get depends on three things:
 - The family’s ability to pay for college (your eligibility)
 - How much it costs to attend your college
 - How many Federal dollars are available

If you are eligible for a Pell Grant, the college’s financial aid administrator will include it in your package, together with the amount of any other aid you are eligible to receive.

2. Money you get from your state – Almost all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and other U.S. dependencies sponsor some financial aid programs for their residents and most award aid based on your need. You apply for these by completing the FAFSA.
3. Money you get from the colleges – Most colleges administer several federally funded student aid programs in the form of grants, loans and work/study. Many colleges also have their own grant and loan programs, financed by their endowments, special fundraising, gifts from alumni, and students’ tuition.
4. Money you get from banks – The Robert T. Stafford Student Loan Program is an important source of loan funds. These loans are made primarily by the banks, savings and loan associations, and credit unions, but some colleges are also lenders. The Federal Government pays the full interest on these loans while you are enrolled in college. When you graduate or leave a college, you must begin to repay the loan with interest. There is a long program for parents too. Parents Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) allows parents to borrow money to help with their children’s college costs. Repayment begins 60 days after the loan is made.
5. Special sources of aid not based on need – There are thousands of special student assistance programs – public and private, local and national, large and small – that offer scholarships, grants and loans to students. You may qualify for one of these programs because of your:
 - Academic achievement
 - Religious affiliation
 - Ethnic or racial heritage
 - Community activities
 - Special hobbies or interests
 - Parents’ employers organizations
 - Organizational memberships
 - Artistic talents or athletic abilities
 - Career plans or field study
 - Employment

6. Local Civic Clubs and Organizations – You’ll probably get most of your financial aid from the government and the college you choose. But many students get that extra boost they need from one of the local civic clubs or organizations. Check the scholarship section in this book carefully for further details.

Read the catalogs or financial aid bulletins you get carefully. Be especially careful to find out each college’s deadline or preferred submission date. Be sure to submit all that information on time!!

COMPLETE THE FAFSA

Colleges, programs and state agencies want families to file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid with the Federal Government. You can usually obtain these forms from your high school guidance counselor. By completing only one FAFSA, and listing on it all the colleges, state programs or private scholarship programs to which you are applying, you can be considered for:

- Aid from the colleges
- Aid from your state
- Aid from the Federal Government, including Pell Grants
- Private grants, scholarship, or loan programs

Many colleges use only the information you report on your FAFSA. Others also use their own financial aid application forms. Be sure to ask for all required forms and information. If a college wants you to complete its own form, it will send it to you, but only if you have told the college you want to apply for aid. It will also tell you if it needs copies of your parents' tax form or other information.

Complete your forms accurately, legibly, carefully, and on time. Although financial aid applications usually ask for information about your family's income for the last year, you don't have to wait until you've completed your income tax form to fill out the forms.

You may, however, want to refer to your wage and tax records, such as W-2 forms, paycheck stubs, and IRS form 1040 or 1040A. If you don't understand the instructions, ask somebody – your counselor, a college you are applying to, or an accountant. The Financial Aid Office at I.R.S.C. is very helpful to parents and students who have questions with financial aid forms.

2025–26 FAFSA opened on September 24, 2025 – The Federal deadline for the 2025–26 academic year is June 30, 2026. Deadlines have never been more important. If you apply late, there may not be enough money left to meet your full need.

You can complete the FAFSA online at <https://studentaid.gov>
